

STUDY SCIENCE PUBLIC HEALTH
STIKES PAYUNG NEGERI PEKANBARU
Research, July 2017

DIAN RIZKI FATIMAH ZIKRA
134 010 010

Risk Management Accidents In Part Rubber Production in PT P & P
Bangkinang Pekanbaru Year 2017

+ 13 Table + 1 Picture + 3 Scheme + 11 Attachmen

ABSTRACT

Risk management is a collection of various activities that have the purpose of managing risk- occupational safety and health risks. The risk management process consists of determining initial context, risk identification, risk analysis, risk evaluation, risk control, monitor Riview. The purpose of this study was to determine the risk management of workplace accidents. This is a qualitative research. This research was conducted at PT P & P Bangkinang Pekanbaru in July 2017. The number of informants are 5 people. The study design used is descriptive. By using the research instrument in the form of pieces of observation, in-depth interview guidelines, document tracking sheet. Analysis used was triangulation of data sources, methods and data. The results of this study concluded that the implementation of the risk management process is done naturally without the use of methods and have not yet archival documents related to the results of the implementation of risk management. The study recommended that the company menrapkan entire risk management process and has archival documents related to the results of the implementation.

Keywords : Determination of the Initial Context, Risk Identification,
Risk Analysis, Risk Assessment, Risk Control, Monitor
Riview

Reading List : 26 (2008-2016)